

Aditi Jaina : OB MA (vague Resume)

Alina : (OB) Apt, from Dublin (No cover letter)

Amisha Bhargava: Good profile Dubai location (Really crafted cover letter)

Anson Shaji: Masters in Business Analyst (No cover letter)

Christy Joy: Mostly into counselling (Vague resume) Cover letter not in apt to job role.

Shashank Rawte: MBA irrelevant (Vague Cover letter)

Urvashi Manot: MA Counselling Psychology (Cover letter not in apt to job role.)

Unaiza Farooqui: Pursuing final year Masters however seems to have a good interest in psychometry. And Middlesex is one of the good UK uni which have s campus in Dubai

Jinal Jain: MSc Psychology of education, UK is an entirely different field. Seems to show interest only in cover letter however well drafted. More likely into education and disability sector.

Maria Saddikot: Haven't completed Bachelors yet. Too young. Just name mentioned as cover letter 🧐♀

Niyanta Dey: Weird resume saved name! More into therapy. No masters yet.

Piyush Raj: Weird resume. No masters. (BCom). Not a psychology graduate. People say I'm psychic 🧐♀

Sreyashi Saha: No masters. Bachelors percentage 48 .Helping people in company like Perspectico 🧐♀ Weird cover letter.

Surabhi Mukherjee: Clinical psychology Pursuing Masters. More into therapy. Cover letter matching with therapy and working with under privileged children.

Janvi Parekh: More into Clinical Psychology. Cover letter apt to therapy and counselling.

Shrishti Yadav: MA Applied Psychology. Heard future counsellors are going to AI hence she's planning to join 🧐♀.

Sudesh Prasad: MBA. Weird cover letter.

Sunidhi Kashyap: Good resume. Pursuing Masters I/O. Well-crafted cover letter

Tina Unhariya: In 3rd year Bachelors. Vague cover letter

Troy Jerrel: Over qualified. Doctoral candidate. Well-crafted and precise cover letter though.

Yogesh: No masters. No cover letter.